The Advisor's Page

Remarks overheard from the corner of a yearbook advisor's ear:

. . . but if he marks on the curve, my 57 will be a B-I He never even lets you finish explaining, no matter how good a liar you are. She got one of those Earth Shampoo sample kits: I could smell it on her hair after swimming. How could he mark me down for not participating in class when I'm THERE every day? He swapped me two 15" tires for my big Budman poster and a blow-up of the February Playgirl-of-the-Month. And just as Johnny Carson ended, I remembered I had to bake brownies for the cake sale. Well, the reason nobody ever knows what the editor-in-chief looks like is because they always hide out all year in Mrs. Sawyer's office. Well, if good things DO come in small packages, how do you explain Lori Areia? Would you believe he wanted to change his Senior Questionnaire in January when it went to press in October . . . and it isn't our fault that he isn't going to marry her now. You know, that Mr. Sullivan must think he's Kojak or somebody. They say she left school last period every day all last year . . . and nobody ever caught her! So I said to him, "Mr. Saltzman, you give me a ninth and I'll burn your house down!" She's twice as wide in the body as she is on top. If you just walk by them with some papers in your hand, they never bother you. He only grew a 'fro to cover up his pinhead. How come we can't have a Portuguese coffee mug for the banquet . . . I know, it's that blankety-blank O'Malley again. Did Mr. Calnan really stay out because he had a sore throat, or was he having a hair transplant? I have to lose 10 pounds by next week or go naked to the Banquet. That makes FOUR kids with doctor's certificates to get out of that class. We ought to have a mini-course in Senior Survival. Did you know you can get a quick high on the bus fumes coming through the vents at 1:30 every day? I traced the map from the book and she marked me down because she said the book was wrong. Yellow slips are good things . . . sometimes. Is it true that Mr. Charbonneau was asked to be Joel Grey's understudy? They ought to sell cigarette papers in the bookstore. How come the teachers get a coffee break and we don't? Does anybody know how to open a car window vent without a coat hanger? The next time he gives me a conduct card, I'm going to get my aunt to give him the Portuguese Evil Eye! It's not fair . . . I did my OWN homework for the first time all year, and when we came back after the snowstorm, she said we didn't have to pass it in. By the time I finish paying for all the college applications, I won't have enough left to pay the tuition. Her English teacher wouldn't change it, so she just marked it over herself from a B to an A. No jive . . . the yearbook cover isn't REALLY going to be purple and orange, is it?

But SERIOUSLY, we'd like to paste gold stars on the foreheads of the following people and organizations for their inestimable contributions to the CRIMSON LOG of 1975: Mr. Walter Owen for our adorable '75 whale on the cover and elsewhere, Mr. Millette and his troops for their emergency aid, Mr. Saltzman and gang for sports and other coverage, the CRIMSON COURIER, the NEW BEDFORD STANDARD-TIMES and its great librarian, Maurice Lauzon, the New Bedford Free Public Library Reference Room, Dodge-Murphy Photographers and Joe Norris for tremendous service, Arnie Lohmann and Taylor Publishing, all faculty who had their patience tried to the limit, every staff member who worked so hard and long to make it possible, and most of all, to Nancy Pacheco, our Editor-in-Chief, for putting it all together . . . the best CRIMSON LOG we've ever had, of course!

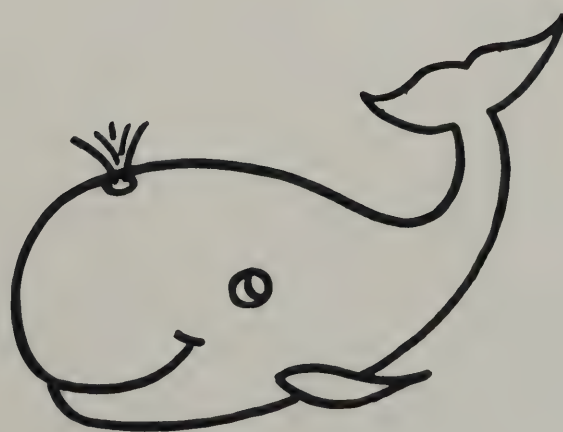

Affectionately,
Roberta H. Sawyer

"Next year I'm taking Advanced Safecracking."

"Is my head on straight, Cecily?"

"You could have gotten my good side!"

To all whom I have known at NBHS:

I shall be returning to New Zealand with much that you have given me: experiences, ideas, attitudes and a way of life, all alien to me less than a year ago. In return, I hope that I have brought a little of my own country to New Bedford High School (including the knowledge that we are NOT a part of Australia!).

This year has seen many "firsts" for me, from football games and Thanksgiving to a white Christmas and skating. I could never forget your friendliness, our tremendous school spirit, being a giggly "Pidgeon" sister in "The Odd Couple," and even the days when everything seemed to go wrong (the day I split my shorts in Basketball!).

One of the most important things I have learnt this year is that however large a school may be, it is made up of individuals. I have gotten to know you as such, and it is how I will always remember you.

To the great Class of '75 and those who follow behind us: "Kia Ora!"

This year the Crimson Tide showed the school what hard work, good conditioning, and determination can do. The season started off slowly, but the team found a spark and from then on they played like a championship club. In the beginning of the season Head Coach Bruce MacPherson was quoted as saying, "We have a great team, if only we could put it all together." Well, the Crimson, led by co-captains Peter Rose and Mark Sullivan, finally did it. In mid-season the team crushed top-ranked Catholic Memorial and from then on rolled over every team in their path. When Thanksgiving arrived the Whalers had compiled 3 victories in a row and they were ready to smash Durfee. The offense led by John Bonneau, Eric Arena, Peter Rose, and Mike Lowe racked up 12 points while the defense led by James Gagnon, Gilbert Carlisle, Bruce McCann, Mark Sullivan, and Joe Bilodeau played a great game, shutting Durfee out. The Whalers proved they were really on top. Throughout the season many people attended the games and enjoyed the team's outstanding performances. Their season ended with a 5-4-1 record. Congratulations and thank you, football team and coaches.

The second season of girls' field hockey at NBHS showed much improvement over the initial team effort of last year. Coached by Mrs. Pauline Amaral and headed by tri-captains Debbie Chervinsky, Lisa Perry, and Mary Kummer, the varsity squad posted a 3-5-2 final record. Two forfeits by Bishop Gerrard and a 2-1 victory over Fairhaven accounted for the wins while the two ties came in Westport and Fairhaven games. The jayvee squad concluded with one win against Fairhaven, two losses to Stang, and five ties. Returning to the varsity lineup from last year's squad were last year's co-captain Debbie Chervinsky, Lisa Perry, Mary Kummer, Elizabeth Ostric, Kathy Hopwood, and Celeste Desrosier. Selected to be on the area conference's All-Star first team was sophomore Debbie Figueira. Mary Kummer and our exchange student Shona Lee were elected to the All-Star second team.

Soccer

At the outset of the New Bedford High soccer season the entire squad was optimistic about their chances for a league championship. The experience that the young seniors were bringing back to the squad would prove to be a deciding factor in continuing the winning ways in the months to come. The next few months would show that NBHS did indeed have a superior soccer squad while allowing their opponents only 3 goals during the first 13 victories of the season. During the first week of November the State Tournament Committee elected New Bedford High School as the number "One" team in Eastern Mass. Our first game was against Billerica High which saw our team defeat them by a score of 2-1. Next was a cherished victory against Newton High. The Eastern Mass. Final saw NBHS defeat Needham 3-0. On Nov. 16 NBHS played West Springfield High and suffered their first loss. Although NBHS outplayed their opponents they were unable to push across the winning goal. The season's record was 17-1 and the squad was quite pleased that their efforts proved so good.

Another plus for the soccer team this season had to be the addition of its Junior Varsity program. In the past Coach Bob Parker had to handle the coaching of our booters alone. However this year the addition of Coach Jim Medeiros helped the season's cause greatly. The young Whalers had a winning season. The nine game schedule proved their prowess while being undefeated and building for next year's Varsity action. The squads were honored with a banquet, where jackets and letters were presented. Thus ended another banner year for the New Bedford High School booters.

The cross-country team suffered a disappointing season. Although the lack of interest and publicity hurt the team, it didn't affect the runners. A cross-country athlete puts in as much time and effort as a basketball or football player but doesn't receive any recognition. Every member on the team is a devoted athlete, and no person who tried out for the team was cut. Practices consisted of many long hours running. Cross-country is one of the most physically demanding sports and the team should be commended for its hard work and maximum effort.

SENIORS: FIRST ROW — Gary Correia, Joe Bilodeau, Darrell Monteiro, Glen Pina. SECOND ROW — Rod Rodrigues, Bruce McCann, and Joe Pontes.

Coach Richard Ponte

This year, the winter track team is under the guidance of coaches Richard Ponte and Ralph Perry. Senior co-capt. for this season are Rod Rodrigues and Joe Bilodeau. Both are standouts in their respective events.

The team started out this season with a thrilling victory over arch-rival Dartmouth. Competition was stiff all through the meet, and was decided by the last event, the relay.

Following a heartbreaking loss to Attleboro, the team bounced back to roll over N. B. Voke and Barnstable. Along came Somerset and again it was another tough decision. Somerset edged out a squeaker over an injury-riddled Whaler squad.

Traveling to Falmouth, everyone knew it was going to be a tough meet, and it was! It was a nip-and-tuck battle that left the Crimson on the short end of a 43-38 score with the relay left. If the Whalers had won the relay it would have been a tie; if they had lost, it would have been a long ride home. A brilliant effort lifted the Whalers to a 43-43 tie.

Outstanding players this year included seniors Joe Bilodeau, Rod Rodrigues and Bruce McCann. Leading the list as future stars for NBHS are Glenn Pires, Jeff Medina and Mike Clark. Female athletes will also share in the glory in the upcoming season.

SENIORS: Shona Lee, Regina Gomes, Dianne Leitao, Rose Lopes.

The New Bedford High School girls' varsity basketball team, coached by Mrs. Jeanne Bonneau, was well on its way to stardom due to their performances during the season. Mary Beehan, Dianne Leitao, Robyn Nelson and Regina Gomes deserve high recognition for their excellence in this sport. They have been the high scorers and the best front line in all of the games. Miss Beehan averages 8 points, Robyn 10, Dianne 14 and Regina 7 points per game. Tri-captains this year are Regina Gomes, Dianne Leitao, and Rose Lopes who are all seniors. The only other senior on the team is our exchange student from New Zealand, Shona Lee. The female Whalers ended up a fantastic season with an 11-1 record, one that the loyal fans could be really proud of.

The Whalers have practiced hard every day and are enthusiastic about this year's team. It seems that several players returning from last year's team will add that extra bit of punch and spark to get the younger Whalers off and running. The season looks towards the bright side and the hopes of going all the way. The Whalers skated into the Silver City Tournament near Christmas time with thoughts of being near the top, but fell short. In the tournament they won their first contest 10-2 and lost the second one 8-5. NBHS's biggest city rival New Bedford Vocational squared off twice within four nights to battle each other, but the Whalers proved to be too strong and beat the Artisans 10-0 and 5-0 in donnybrook-filled games. The Whalers are coached by John McBain and assisted by Ray Valencia and Dick Sylvia. Peter Mello is the captain while Mark Sullivan and David Bergeron are the co-captains. Protecting the goal mouth and keeping the scores low and close are Bob Allen and David Bergeron. This year's team has many promising skaters who try to give you one-hundred percent of their effort every time they step onto the ice. If the Whalers continue to play inspired hockey and skate end-to-end hockey they will be on the right road to a super season.

The New Bedford High School's basketball team is coached by Mr. Sal Lombardo, assisted by Mr. Mitchell Kuliga. The co-captains are Mike Bobrowiecki, and Jeff Miller. This year's team has many outstanding, smart and quick basketball players and good underclassmen. During NBHS' pre-season contest they seemed to be well-balanced and ready for a strong and exciting season in Division I of the Southeastern Conference. In NBHS' first home game they were pitted against one of the strongest schools in high school basketball, Catholic Memorial, and lost. When NBHS went into their annual tournament at S.M.U. near Christmas time, they were to contend with the Blue Wave of Holy Family, but lost by 2 points in one of the most exciting games in Whalers' history. The following day the NBHS quintet met Bishop Stang and beat them handily. Several of NBHS's defeats were by a few points. After taking several very close defeats the Whalers finally took revenge out on Taunton and Attleboro and beat them soundly. If NBHS can put together a winning streak they may be close to the top in their division.

The New Bedford High School swimming pool has recently become the home of intense competitive swimming. In November, 1974, after many urgent requests by the student body, the Swim Team finally got the starting gun. In Massachusetts, swimming is a regular winter sport for boys, starting after Thanksgiving and ending in early March. Since the girls participate in a fall schedule, our girls have been competing on an equal basis with the boys until their own separate team can be established.

Competitive swimming can be a grueling experience. It requires one to endure considerable pain in a "face down" atmosphere, in which, at times, encouragement from the coach and teammates is nothing more than gurgled sounds and blurred imagery. Self-discipline is a must.

Under the direction of Coach Medeiros, our swimmers log anywhere from 2,500 to 5,500 or 6,000 yards in a day's practice. That's right . . . more than three miles a day. Each class is well represented and the hard work by all has shown convincing results. Without league affiliation, meets have been difficult to schedule. Coach Medeiros feels that all team members, both boys and girls, have good reason to be proud of their accomplishments, as individuals and as a team. The future looks bright.

Tribute to the Whalers

The Durfee team was to host the event,
So over to Fall River the Whaler fans went.

Once upon a time, on Thanksgiving Day,
There was a football game, and it went this way:
NBH Whalers against Durfee High,
And what a fight they had as the game went by.

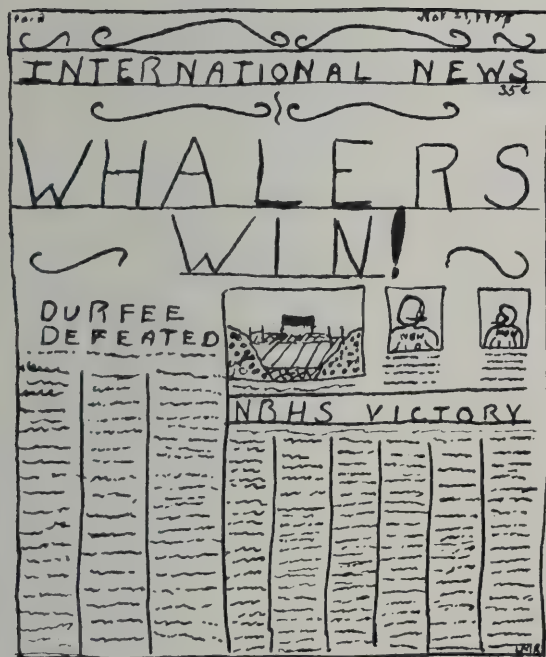

Well, we just smiled at the very first pass
'Cause we knew Durfee just couldn't last.

And the Whalers pushed Durfee back so far with the ball,
They almost played in New Bedford after all.

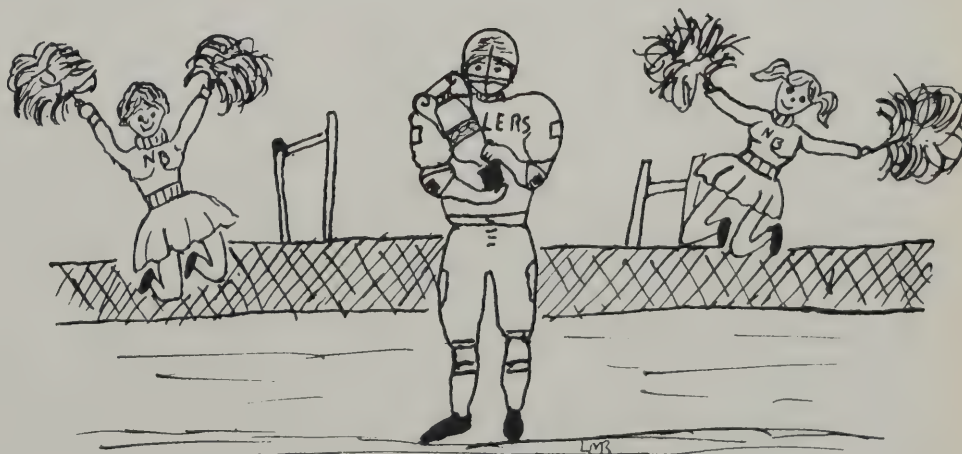

When the game was over, we looked all around,
And not a Durfee player could be found.

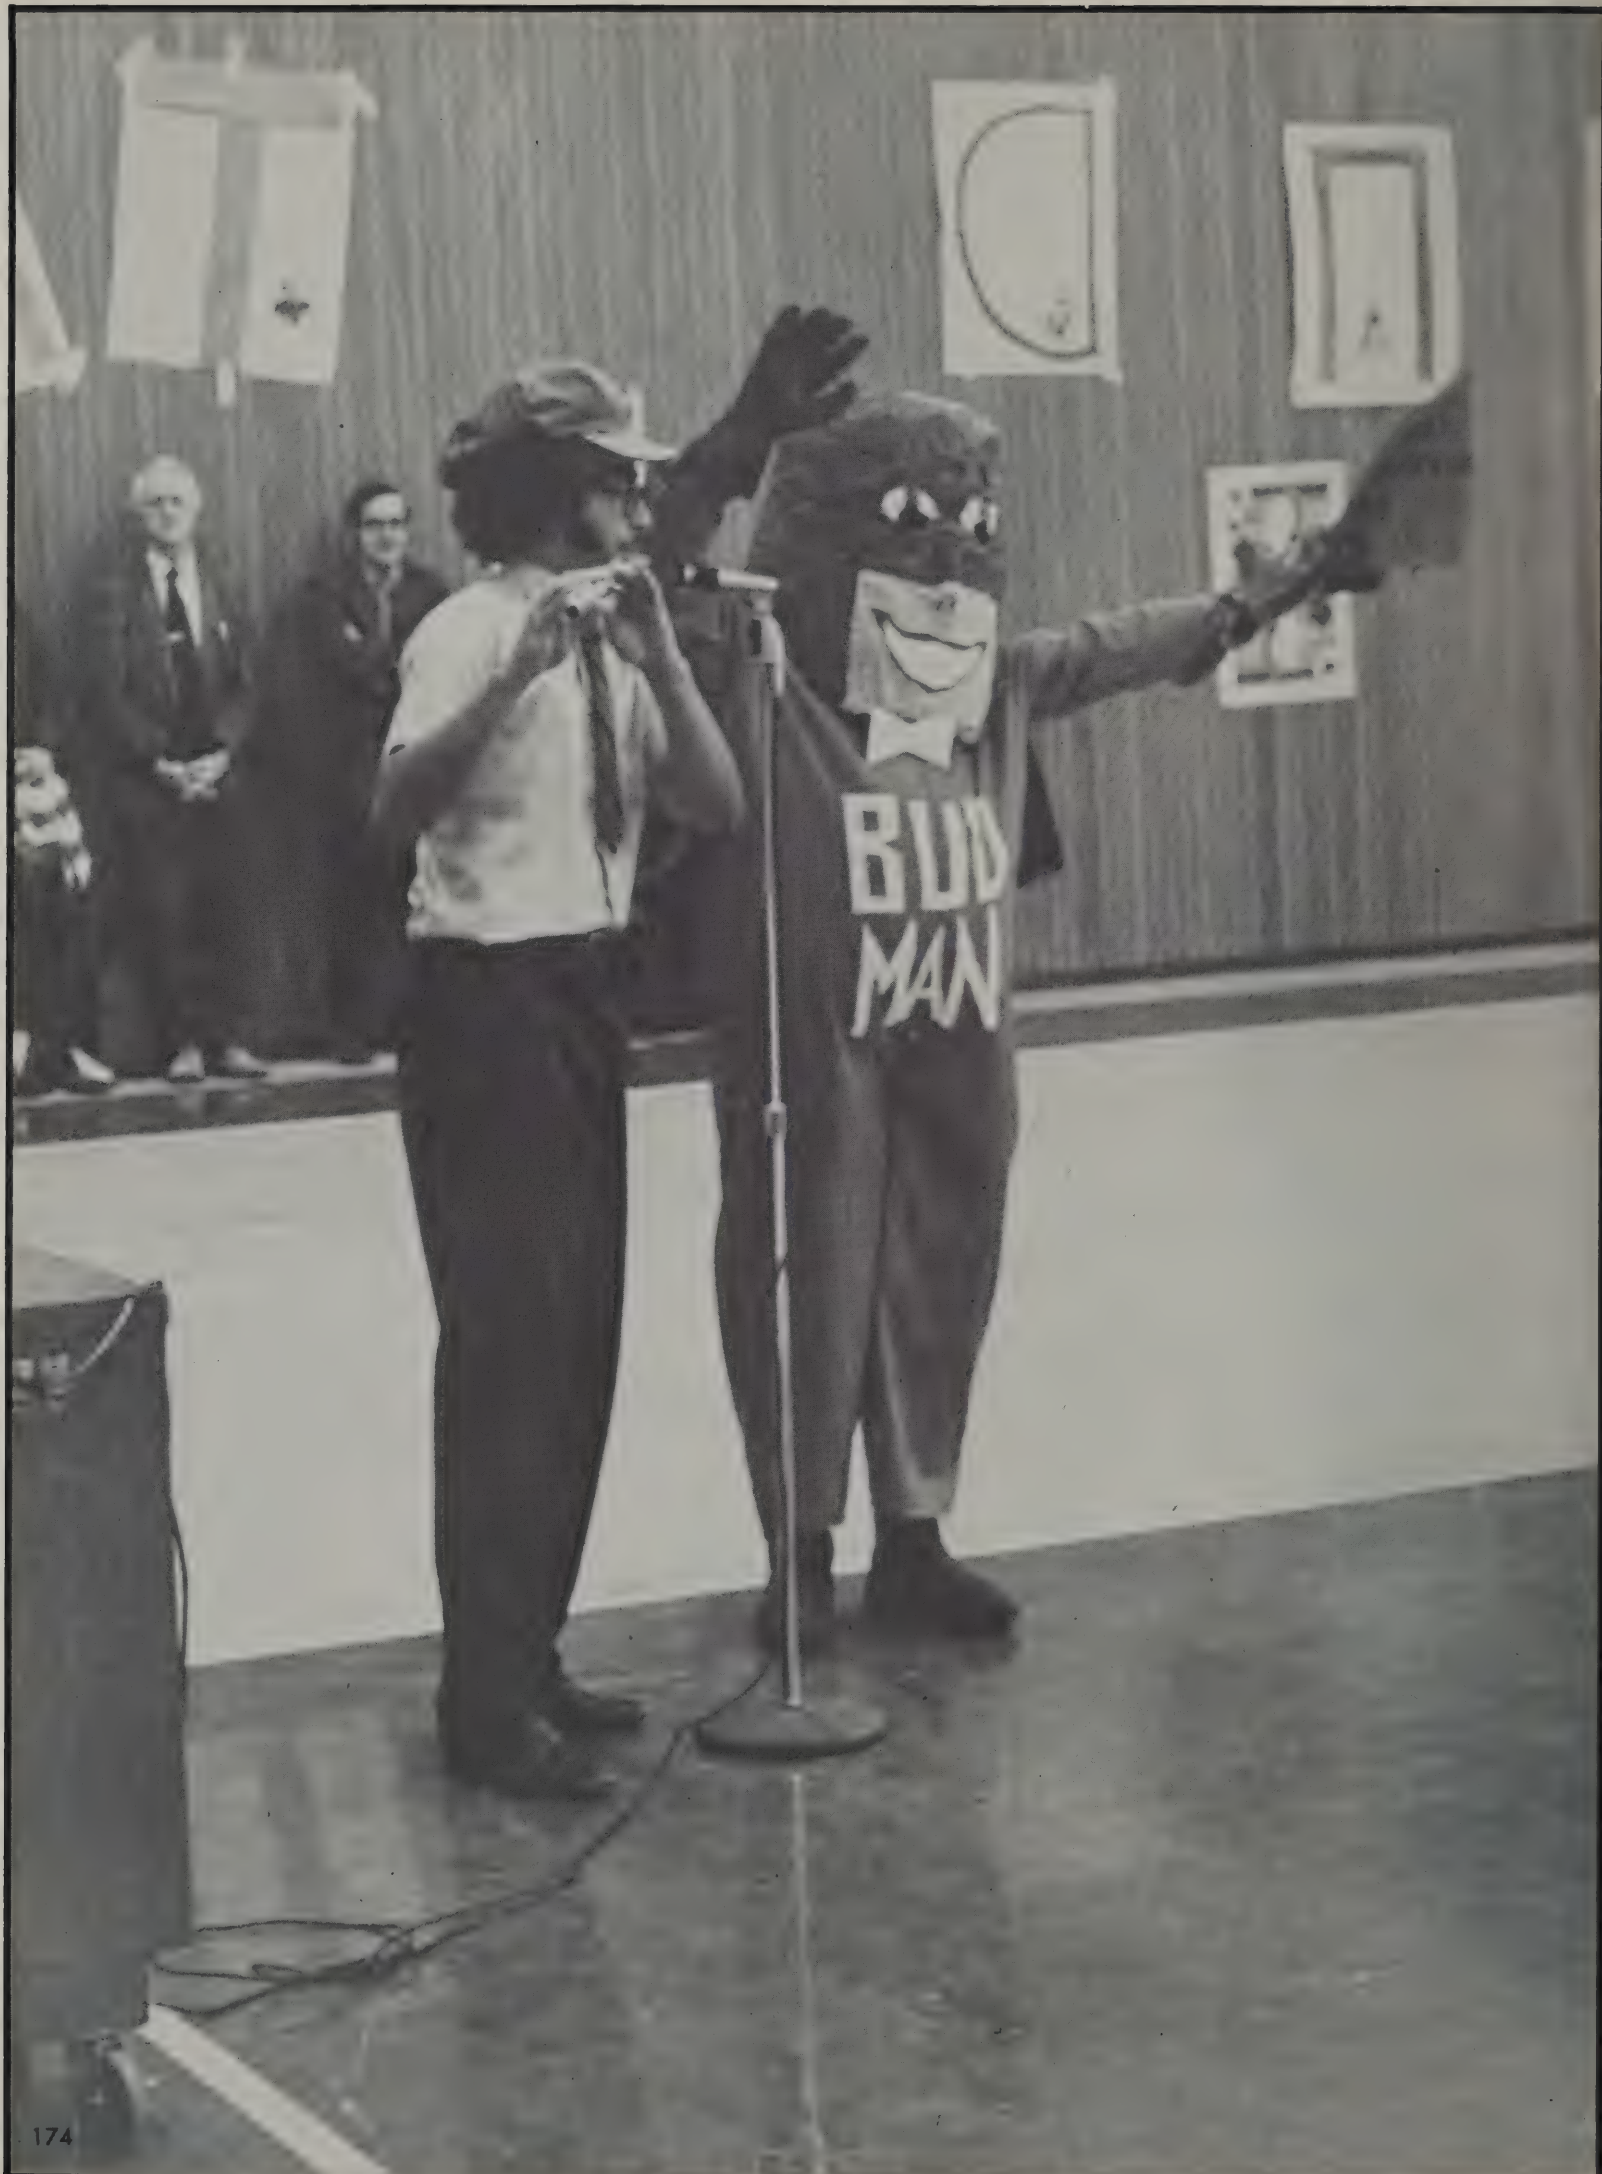

The game turned out just like we said it would
And the Whalers' fame, far and near, was understood.

Durfee players, they say, had had enough of Whaler Power,
And they left the field to take an early shower.

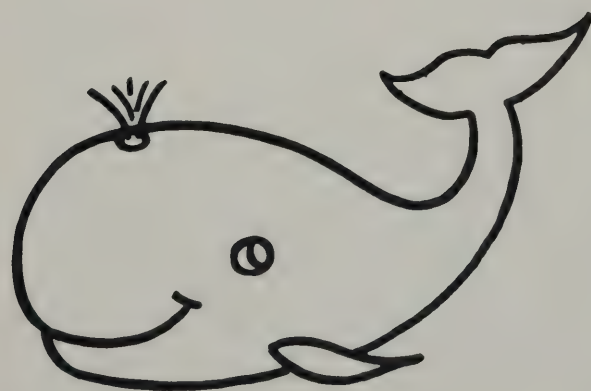

So a tribute to the Whalers, and their fans, we say!
For their fine performance on Thanksgiving Day!

CLASS HISTORY

September, 1972 — It was a new beginning for all of us, even for the Juniors and Seniors. As we entered our brand new school through the different-colored doors and roamed the corridors filled with cartons of books, piles of upturned chairs and unfinished piping, a sense of eeriness pervaded all.

It was a complete change from previous years. Beside the fact that the school was so huge, the upperclassmen knew that the faculty had almost doubled and the entire student body consisted of about 3,000 students. One of the most noticeable changes (which we were too ignorant to be grateful for) was that the Sophomores were not getting s-s-s-t'd out by the Juniors and Seniors, as we had been warned we would. The shock of a girl walking into the boys' room or vice-versa was traumatic when we found out that the boys' and girls' rooms (labelled "ladies" and "gentlemen", much to the older gang's delight) were on opposite sides in different houses. We were thrilled when we heard about our Olympic-sized swimming pool and couldn't wait to try it; our feelings had changed when we finally did get in. The lack of hair dryers didn't help much.

Though it took some time to adjust, we were soon on our way to feeling like a class and electing our class officers:

President: Brian Souza
1st Vice-President: Kevin Lima
2nd Vice-President: Debra Vasconcellos
Secretary: Donna Correia

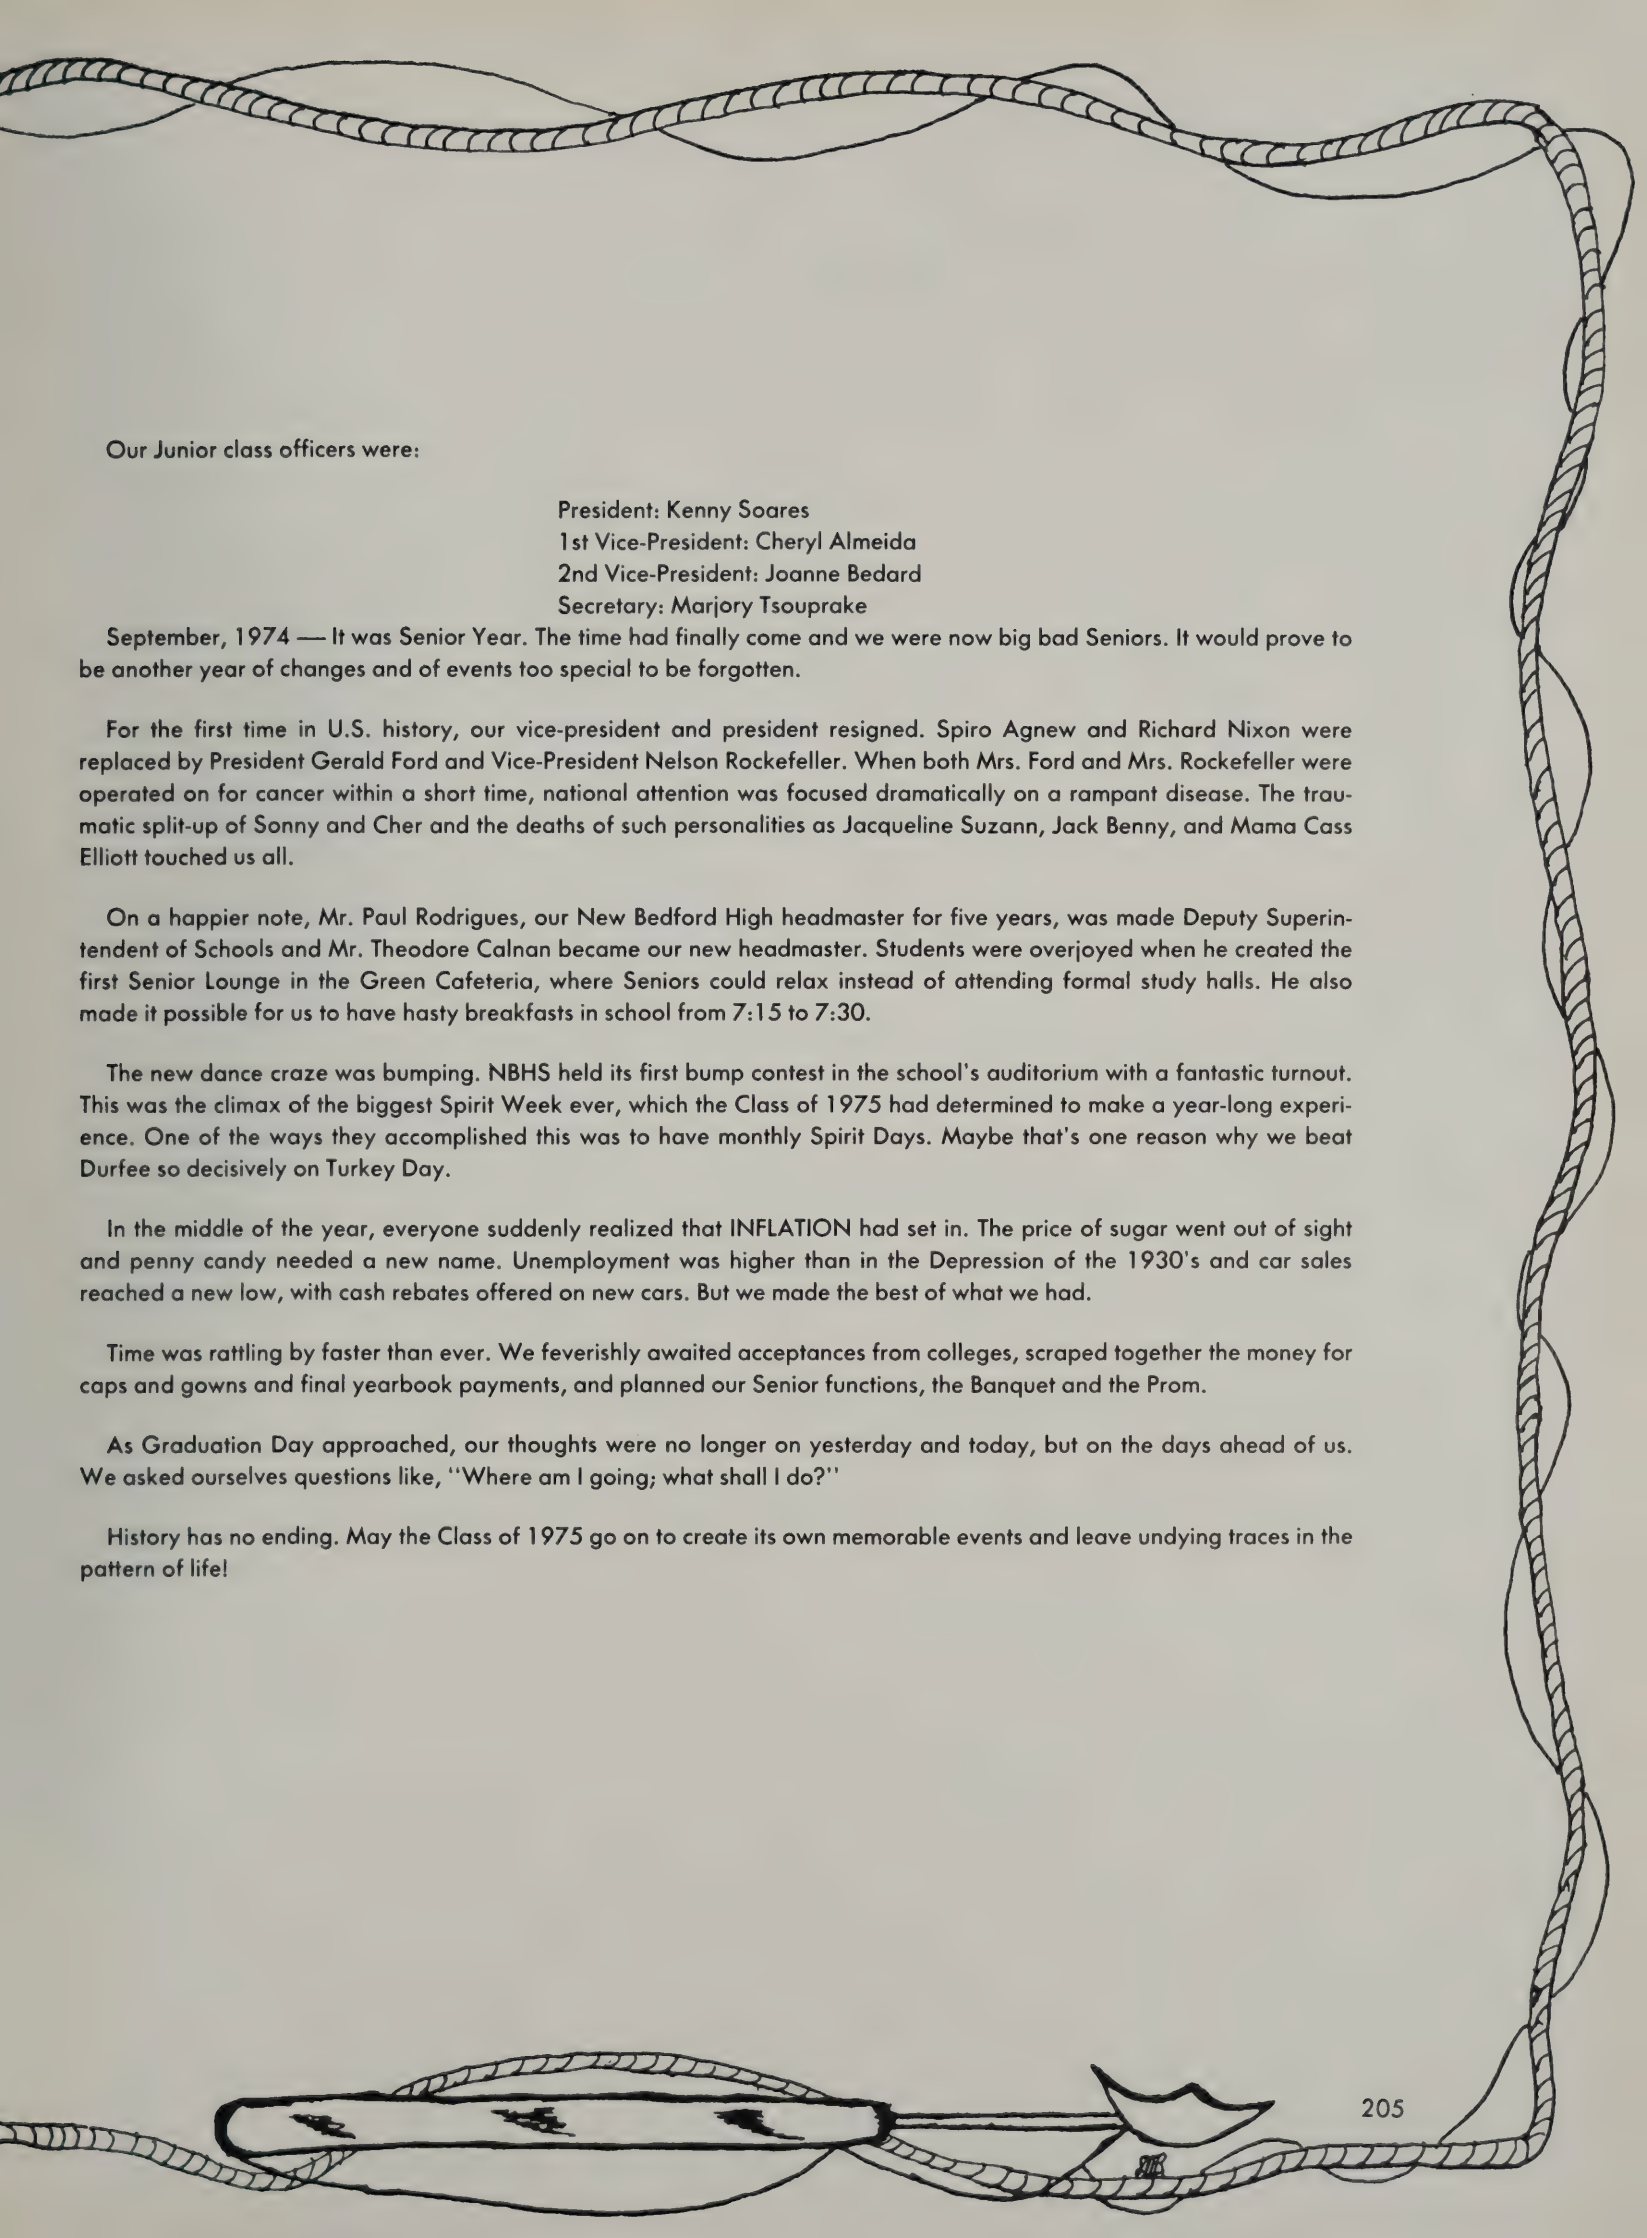

Our sophomore year included some big events and even some changes. Fred Purrington, our own Navy ex-P.O.W., while a guest here gave a dynamic speech and showed us some of his fine talent when he played the drums for us in the school's gymnasium. Mr. Southworth retired that year and was replaced by Mr. Robert McCarthy as the Tan House house-master. The biggest thrill was the lowering of the voting and drinking age to 18. Yet, for some, it wasn't fun any more because now it was legal! The new fad for that year was platform shoes, at least for the girls. Little did we know that a year later, the boys would be wearing them, too!

September, 1973 — Junior Year had begun and our feelings had changed somewhat. We had gained more confidence and that superior feeling began to show. Many of us had jobs and some of us had their licenses. It was during this year that the student body gained the privilege of being allowed to smoke on school grounds.

Many changes took place in our administration. Dr. Gerard Smith was brought from Long Island, New York, to become our new Superintendent of Schools, as Dr. James Hayden retired. Mr. Theodore Calnan was promoted to Administrative Assistant to our Headmaster, Mr. Rodrigues, and Mrs. Marial Harper became the school's first headmistress, replacing Mr. Calnan in the Blue House.

Some of the highlights of that year included the Junior Banquet, in which we were packed like sardines at Gaudette's, but managed anyway to entertain each other and dance to the Mixed Emotions; our first International Christmas sponsored by the Foreign Language Department; and the unforgettable "Fiddler on the Roof", which was a smashing success for the Drama Club.

Of course, we'll always remember coming to school in the dark when the clocks were set back an hour for the whole winter because of the energy crisis . . . or even getting to school at all if you were lucky enough to find a gas station open, or felt like waiting in line for a couple of hours for a couple of bucks worth (at sixty cents a gallon!). That year was also marred nationally by the beginning of the Watergate scandal. Another year was running out.

Our Junior class officers were:

President: Kenny Soares
1st Vice-President: Cheryl Almeida
2nd Vice-President: Joanne Bedard
Secretary: Marjory Tsouprake

September, 1974 — It was Senior Year. The time had finally come and we were now big bad Seniors. It would prove to be another year of changes and of events too special to be forgotten.

For the first time in U.S. history, our vice-president and president resigned. Spiro Agnew and Richard Nixon were replaced by President Gerald Ford and Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller. When both Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller were operated on for cancer within a short time, national attention was focused dramatically on a rampant disease. The traumatic split-up of Sonny and Cher and the deaths of such personalities as Jacqueline Suzann, Jack Benny, and Mama Cass Elliott touched us all.

On a happier note, Mr. Paul Rodrigues, our New Bedford High headmaster for five years, was made Deputy Superintendent of Schools and Mr. Theodore Calnan became our new headmaster. Students were overjoyed when he created the first Senior Lounge in the Green Cafeteria, where Seniors could relax instead of attending formal study halls. He also made it possible for us to have hasty breakfasts in school from 7:15 to 7:30.

The new dance craze was bumping. NBHS held its first bump contest in the school's auditorium with a fantastic turnout. This was the climax of the biggest Spirit Week ever, which the Class of 1975 had determined to make a year-long experience. One of the ways they accomplished this was to have monthly Spirit Days. Maybe that's one reason why we beat Durfee so decisively on Turkey Day.

In the middle of the year, everyone suddenly realized that INFLATION had set in. The price of sugar went out of sight and penny candy needed a new name. Unemployment was higher than in the Depression of the 1930's and car sales reached a new low, with cash rebates offered on new cars. But we made the best of what we had.

Time was rattling by faster than ever. We feverishly awaited acceptances from colleges, scraped together the money for caps and gowns and final yearbook payments, and planned our Senior functions, the Banquet and the Prom.

As Graduation Day approached, our thoughts were no longer on yesterday and today, but on the days ahead of us. We asked ourselves questions like, "Where am I going; what shall I do?"

History has no ending. May the Class of 1975 go on to create its own memorable events and leave undying traces in the pattern of life!

Autographs

Remember!!!

Forgetting your homework in your locker on purpose.

Being chewed out by Mrs. Sawyer.

Double mash.

Trying to decide what house to eat in.

The teacher telling you to clear your desk for a test after you just finished cramming cheat notes on your book cover.

Being a club member and paying dues without going to any meetings.

Wearing the same pair of jeans for two weeks in a row.

"To be or not to be, that is the question."

Voting for the first name on the ballot sheet even when you didn't know who it was.

Good things come in small packages.

Coming to school the day after you've been absent and finding out you were elected for something.

The first time you walked around the core and were amazed to find that you ended up right where you started.

Asking Dad for the hotty to go out cruising around with the guys.

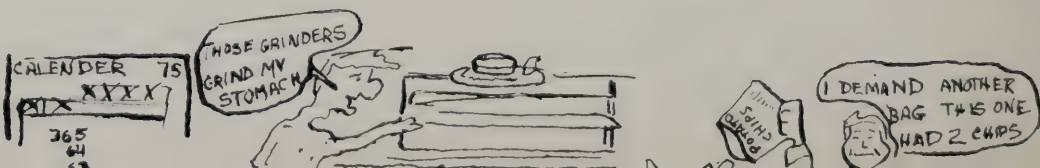

Swapping each other's names when you had a substitute.

There are only 365 days in a year.

Forging notes and realizing that you put the wrong date on the note.

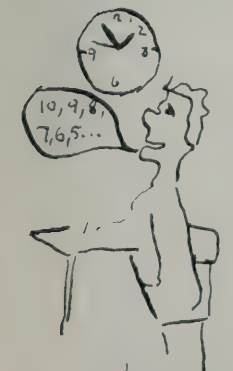

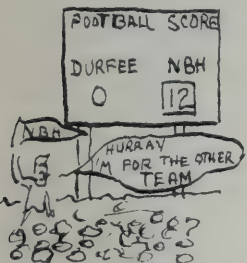

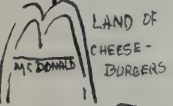

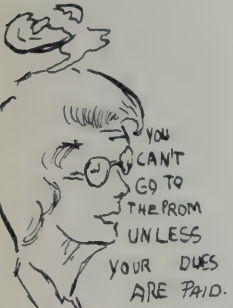

Knowing that no one studied for a test and trying to convince the teacher that he never told us about it, but it usually didn't work.

"Did you hear from any colleges yet?"

CRASH

The sweet smell as you walked past the second floor boys' room in Tan House.

"Where's your yellow slip?"

The trouble we had opening our lockers the first day of school . . . and the second . . . and the third . . .

How we froze in the cafeterias.

Putting off 'till the day after tomorrow what you could be doing tomorrow.

Mr. Robinson's announcements.

Feeling cheap when you dropped your plate on the cafeteria floor.

Forgetting to pay class dues.

Coming in late every time we had an auditorium.

Two all-beef patties, special sauce, lettuce, cheese, pickles, onions and a sesame seed bun.

How hard it was to get out of a class you hated.

Putting a penny under your tongue so you could get dismissed when the nurse took your temperature.

Opening your gym locker to find your gym clothes gone.

The Durfee Game.

One finger means true; two fingers means false.

"Today is the first day of the rest of your life."

Cramming to do your homework the period before it's due and the teacher not collecting it.

No matter how much you thought high school was a drag or a bore or even just a waste of time, it will be a time to remember.
